

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A server system for a document processing system includes a plurality of input sources. A plurality of satellite servers are connected to the input sources. The satellite servers receive a plurality of digital files from the input sources. A central server is connected to the satellite servers. The central server receives the digital files
5 from the satellite servers and performs at least one action on at least one of the digital files.